

The BBC website uses cookies. Some are always on, others you can choose to turn on or off. You can decide which cookies to accept.

South Africa won the cricket World Test Championship. They beat Australia, who tried to make them nervous. South Africa had lost many finals before.

Temba Bavuma is South Africa's cricket captain. He's the first black African captain and hopes their win unites the country.

South Africa's cricket team loves Test matches. Aiden Markram, a key player, says Test cricket is important.

South Africa's win was special. They have no home Test matches in 2025-26. Markram hopes Test cricket stays popular and not forgotten in South Africa.