

Gary Oldman and David Beckham are now "Sir". Tess Daly and Claudia Winkleman are honoured for TV work.

Elaine Paige and Pat Barker are now "Dame." Georgia Harrison and Luke Littler got MBEs for helping online safety and darts.

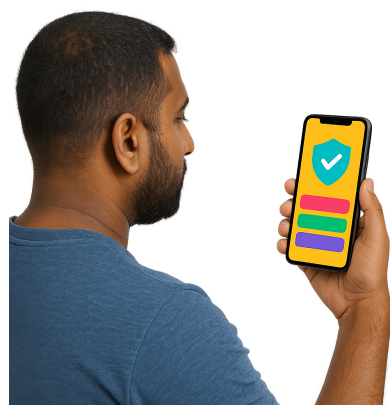

The honours list has 1,200 people. Many are honoured for helping their community, like campaigners and fundraisers.

David Beckham is honoured for helping in sports and charity, like kids' education and nature. He is proud of his new title.

Elaine Paige feels lucky and helps others. Roger Daltrey from The Who is honoured for charity work.

Georgia Harrison helps people hurt online. She wants everyone to feel safe and not alone. Her work is important for change.

Luke Littler is the youngest darts champion. He and Luke Humphries got MBEs for their sports achievements.

Many people are honoured for helping others, like educating about knife dangers and making the outdoors welcoming for everyone.

Norman Irwin, a WWII veteran, and Carmela Chillery-Watson, who raises awareness for muscular dystrophy, are honoured for helping their community.