

The Future of Work

Work is changing due to new tech and global links. This affects jobs. It's important to know these changes as they can be exciting and challenging.

The United Nations talks about ageing, disability, and poverty to help make the world fairer for everyone.

The UN shares reports and updates on social media to help people understand and solve world problems.