

DragonForce attacked M&S, sending a rude email to the boss asking for money and claiming to have customer data.

An email from a Tata Consultancy Services worker's account, helping M&S, was used without his knowledge.

DragonForce wants money to return data. They have a secret website for talking to victims. They also attacked Co-op.

Some think DragonForce is from Malaysia or Russia. Others think young people from the UK and US, called Scattered Spider, help them.

The UK's crime team is investigating. M&S hasn't said if they paid the hackers. The attack caused problems for M&S and Co-op.
