

A teaching assistant was stabbed and died outside a school in France. A 14-year-old student is in custody.

French leaders are upset about the attack. They want to stop knife crime in schools. The Education Minister will visit to support those affected.

Politicians want more safety checks in French schools to keep children safe and stop violence.