

A woman was arrested after her husband was found dead on their honeymoon in India. Her family says she's innocent, but police think she hired killers.

Sonam and Raja married in May. Raja went missing, then found dead. Families want more police help, as they think local police didn't do enough.

Sonam went to the police in another state. Three men were arrested. Her dad said she escaped and wants a big investigation to find the truth.

Raja's brother doubted Sonam at first but later said only she could explain. The police in Meghalaya believe they solved the case quickly.