

UK Talks on Safety for Women and Girls

The UK is working to stop violence against women and girls with strong laws for domestic abuse and online safety, and to keep children safe.

The UK aims to improve support for women and ensure all areas work together to keep everyone safe.

New plans aim to protect people from harm at home and stop stalking. The UK wants to cut violence against women and girls by half in 10 years.