

School Changes for Special Needs Kids

Help for children with special needs in England isn't good enough. They need more help in schools without long waits. Changes are planned by 2026

Evie, with autism, had no school for three years. Now in a special college, she wants councils to get more money to help kids like her.

Betsey found school hard without help. Now at university, she gets support and wishes she had it earlier. She encourages others to ask for help.