

The US and China agreed on a plan to improve trade. They need leaders Trump and Xi Jinping to approve it.

The US and China argued over trade rules. The US said China was slow to sell rare earths. China said the US stopped selling important tech items.

In May, they tried to fix problems by lowering trade taxes. Both sides said the other broke promises. They hope the new plan will help.