

Cristiano Ronaldo scored the winning goal against Germany, beating them for the first time. He now has 137 international goals, a men's record.

Ronaldo won once in six games against Germany, scoring twice. He lost four times to France but beat them in the Euro 2016 final.

Ronaldo's future is unsure. He plays for Al-Nassr in Saudi Arabia. His contract ends this summer, but he might stay until he's 42.

Ronaldo wants 1,000 goals. He needs 63 more. If he keeps scoring, he might reach this in under two years.
