

Digital Tools Change Our World

The Digital Age lets us learn and get healthcare from home with tools like telehealth and e-learning, making life easier for many, including those with disabilities.

The United Nations talks about disability, ageing, poverty, and youth. They work to help everyone have a fair chance and share reports on their findings.

The UN shares news on Facebook and Twitter. They want everyone to know their work and help make the world better.