

A man broke a shiny art chair in an Italian museum. He left without telling anyone. The museum asks people to be careful with art.