

Teachers in England can use AI for marking and writing letters. This helps them spend more time with students. They must check AI's work.

The DfE says AI can help with quizzes and letters. Schools should have rules for using AI.

AI can save time but might make mistakes. Teachers should learn to use AI well to help students.

The government wants to help teachers focus on teaching. But, schools have money problems, and using AI needs more money.