

Changes to Disability Benefits

The Labour Government changed welfare rules. But disability groups say it's not enough and will still hurt people with disabilities.

Groups are worried about cuts to PIP and Universal Credit. They say this will make life hard for young disabled people. They want the cuts to stop.

Mencap and the National Autistic Society want the government to stop and talk to disabled people about future rule changes.