

Changes to Human Rights Law

The Lord Chancellor says the European Convention on Human Rights needs to change to keep trust. It's important for justice.

The Government wants clearer rules on family life to stop lawbreakers avoiding deportation, balancing public interest and individual rights.

The Lord Chancellor says changes will balance rights and safety. She wants all countries to update the Convention to keep it strong.