

Social Care in Scotland Update

Scotland checks social care. They want people to decide on their care. They made a toolkit to help with choices.

Young people who were in care help check services. A new plan called the Quality Improvement Framework will help make inspections better.

Scotland is making a plan to improve social care for adults and share information safely.