

Tony Jones talked about football for many years, including the World Cup and Premier League. He stopped after the UEFA Champions League final.

Tony was a reporter and then a TV commentator. He worked for Sky Sports and UEFA. He doesn't count every game he's covered.

Tony has seen great football moments, like Shane Long's fastest goal, Norwich City's comeback, and players like Bale, Messi, and Ronaldo.

Tony loved commentating at Goodison Park but not the London Stadium. He faced challenges like snow travel but loved the commentary box view.

Tony went to games during Covid-19. It was strange without fans. He felt lucky and thinks commentators help understand the game.

Tony is retiring to be with family. He loved his job. Being a commentator was fun but hard work.
