

Sharing Good Lives with Leaders

Learning Disability England went to a meeting in Parliament on 4th June to talk about helping people with learning disabilities live happy lives.

James and Gary talked to MPs about good care. They gave Stephen Kinnock the Good Lives Framework, which shows what people need.

The meeting was about making social care better. Learning Disability England will work with others to ensure people using care help shape changes.