

The Environment Agency has a new plan to help farms work together to manage water better and stay safe from drought.

The plan has £1.1 million to help farms in England with water storage and use, like shared tanks and recycling. This was helpful last year.

Farmers can apply for help to save water until 20 July 2025. Visit the Environment Agency Water Hub to apply.