

Cookies help the BBC website work. Some are always on. Others are off unless you turn them on. You can accept or reject cookies.

Lennon Miller is a young football player for Scotland. He played well, stayed calm, and helped his team win by making good passes.

Miller, 18, plays football well. He's been playing well for 2 years. People like his passing. His dad played too, helping him learn.

Miller's team, Motherwell, might sell him. Many clubs like him. His contract is until 2026, so Motherwell could earn money if he moves.

Miller isn't focused on the future. He wants to enjoy his holiday and be ready for next season. If Scotland needs him, he'll be ready to play.