

A minister says rich people should not get winter fuel money. The government may change who gets it. Some say all pensioners should get it; others disagree.

The Prime Minister said more pensioners will get money again. Last year, many lost up to £300. He didn't say how many or when.

Plans to help more pensioners get money face challenges. Some say it might be hard and costly to check who should get the money.