

UK at UN Disability Conference

Seema Malhotra, a UK MP, supports using tech to help people with disabilities join in more. She plans to help them with school and work locally.

The UK wants fair pay for disabled people and is asking for ideas. They also want to include disabled people in all parts of life.

The UK helps people with disabilities worldwide to ensure they are treated fairly and live in a safe world.