

The government plans to spend more on the NHS and housing, but the Home Office will get less money.

Council tax might go up to help the police. Big changes are planned, but they will take time. The economy may grow, but taxes might rise later.

Reeves wants more free school meals and breakfast clubs. The government thinks spending now will help the country grow later.