

How Microsoft Uses Cookies

Microsoft uses cookies to keep your info safe and show you things you like. Cookies are small notes that remember things about you.

You can choose personalised ads. Click 'I Accept' to agree. Change your mind anytime by clicking 'Manage Preferences'.

Microsoft works with 852 companies to use your data for ads and content. You can choose what data they use by managing your preferences.