

New Dental Care Project

A project called Caring Beyond Words is using art to make dental care better for people with learning disabilities.

The project will test new ideas to make dentist visits easier for people with learning disabilities and improve their care.

The project helps people with learning disabilities and their families get the right dental care and feel less worried about visiting the dentist.