

UK Helps Women in Southeast Asia

The UK helps with a project for women's peace and safety in the Philippines and Indonesia, working with universities to share ideas.

People from the Philippines and Indonesia met to work together on gender education and research to help with climate change and violence.

The UK helps women in peace efforts, aiming to improve lives and support gender equality.