

Poland's Prime Minister, Donald Tusk, wants a vote to show trust in his government. His group lost the presidential election but still has more seats.

The new president can stop laws he dislikes. He doesn't want Poland closer to the EU or NATO. Tusk's team is strong on defence and works with France.

Tusk wants to help women and fix courts in Poland, but it's hard because of the president's power.