

Grenfell Tower was a tall building in London. A big fire happened there on 14 June 2017. It was very sad because 72 people died.

Nathan was 6 when the fire happened. He heard his mum scream. Sorena, now 7, thinks there have been many words but not much action since.

Eight years on, young people remember that night. They feel not enough help or change has happened since the fire.

The fire in North Kensington is remembered. We must honour those who died and ensure it never happens again.
