

North Korea launched a big warship that can carry nuclear weapons. Kim Jong Un and his daughter watched.

The ship, Kang Kon, is named after a North Korean general. Four officials were arrested after the first launch failed.

Kim Jong Un plans to build more warships soon to protect their waters, despite a failed launch.