

Ofsted is changing how they check schools. Parents like the new report cards, but some say more work is needed to improve things.

Changes start November 2025. Ofsted will share more in September. They're making new tools to help make inspections fair and easy.

Ofsted checked schools to make sure inspections help everyone and improve learning. Over 6,500 people shared their thoughts.

Ofsted will help teachers with meetings and training for new changes. Routine checks will pause until November.
