

King Charles and the Royal Family will wear black armbands at Trooping the Colour to honour Air India crash victims. A minute's silence will be held.

The Trooping the Colour parade in London marks the King's birthday. The King, having cancer treatment, will travel by carriage.

The King is very sad about the crash. Only one person lived. Flags are low. The King came back from Canada. The summer ceremony is for good weather.