

The UK helps protect mangrove forests in Madagascar and Indonesia. These forests fight climate change, protect wildlife, and support local people.

The UK helps stop tree loss and overfishing, aiding 70,000 people and saving carbon. They aim to protect a large mangrove area.