

UK's Plan for Green Finance

The UK wants to lead in green finance, helping banks and companies plan for climate change. This will bring money for clean energy and new jobs.

The government wants to know what people think about new rules to help businesses understand climate risks and keep the UK a leader in green finance.

Many support this plan to keep the UK strong in green money and help businesses grow. The government works with businesses for clear rules.