

A hawk in Flamstead hurt people. One man went to hospital. The bird was caught and given to a falconer named Wayne Housden.

Wayne trained a hawk named Bomber Harris. He built a home for it and plans to let it fly freely soon. The hawk is calm and happy.

The hawk was lost from its owner for over a year. Wayne wants to keep it safe and make sure it never gets lost again.