

Cleaning Up Our Waters

Fines from water companies will help clean rivers, lakes, and seas. Over £100 million will go to local projects to stop pollution and improve water.

Water companies can be fined for pollution. There have been 81 investigations. The Government wants to stop sewage going into water.

Steve Reed says the Government is fixing a broken water system with more checks and money to make water clean and safe.