

Doctors have found a way to treat.

Huntington's disease is caused by a DNA mistake. A new treatment uses a safe virus to help stop the harmful protein, helping people live better lives.

The treatment works well but costs a lot. It's not for everyone yet. It might be in the US by 2026 and could help many families.