

Carlos Alcaraz won a big tennis match at the French Open against Jannik Sinner, coming back after losing the first two sets.

The Spanish football team watched the match. Alcaraz's win got praise from many, including famous teams, and he's compared to Rafael Nadal.

The match lasted 5 hours and 29 minutes, the longest French Open final. Even Naomi Broady changed travel plans to watch this historic tennis moment.

Alcaraz is a future tennis star. People compare him to Djokovic and Federer. His match is seen as one of the best ever.

Famous tennis games include Nadal vs Federer in 2008, Djokovic vs Nadal in 2012, and now Alcaraz vs Sinner.
