

Luke Littler and Luke Humphries got MBEs for their work in darts. They are happy and proud to get this honour from the King.

Virginia Wade, a famous tennis player, got a CBE. She is the last British woman to win Wimbledon and is honoured for her tennis and charity work.

David Beckham is a 'Sir' for his football career and charity work. He played for England and helps children's charities.

Billy Boston, a rugby legend, got a knighthood. He was a star in the 1950s and 60s. His award was given early due to his health.

Michael Dunlop, a famous motorcyclist, got an MBE. He races even after losing family in accidents. His bravery and skill are well known.

Rachel Daly and Trish Johnson got MBEs for their work in sport. Many other sports stars were also honoured.

Deta Hedman, a darts champion, got an OBE. She is the first black woman in big darts and is known for her success and helping others.

Alistair Brownlee, a triathlon champion, got an OBE for his sport and charity work. He is known for his triathlon wins and helping others.