

Support for learning disabilities

The UK Government has new rules for Universal Credit and PIP. People are worried the changes might not help everyone.

A new health toolkit helps people with learning disabilities. SeeAbility's video shows why eye tests are important for them.

A study found people with autism might have a higher chance of getting Parkinson's. This helps with planning health care and support.