

Russell Brand says he is not guilty of serious charges. He is accused of crimes against four women. His trial is next year in London.

Brand, 49, thanked the court staff and will stay on bail until the trial. He wants to prove his innocence after charges from a Channel 4 investigation.