

The Lionesses had a hard time. Mary Earps and Fran Kirby left the team. They lost to Spain in the Nations League.

Mary Earps and Fran Kirby stopped playing for England. They talked with coach Sarina Wiegman before retiring.

Millie Bright left the team to feel better. The team worries about how this affects their Euro 2025 chances.

The team will play against the Netherlands, France, and Wales in the Euros. Only two teams can go to the next round.

Sarina Wiegman is the coach. She must pick 23 players for the Euros and decide if injured player Lauren James can play.

Sarina Wiegman is a strict coach. She makes choices for the team's good, not feelings. Some players find it hard, but she is successful.

The players are waiting to see who will be in the final team. They hope to do well in the Euros and need to work together to win.

The team supports Millie Bright and her decision to focus on her health. They want her to feel better soon and are there to help her.