

Inquiry Panel Changes

Three women left a group looking into grooming gangs. They felt it was unfair and wanted a fair leader not linked to past issues.

The government wants to fix past mistakes. They need a leader for an inquiry, but it's taking long. Some think the delay is to hide things.

The women want the inquiry to focus on grooming gangs. The government says they will keep it focused on that.