

Illegal Work in UK Mini-Marts

A crime group helps people work in UK mini-marts selling illegal cigarettes and vapes. Some pretend to own the shops but don't really run them.

Asylum seekers work long hours for little pay using fake names. Some shops hide illegal items. This is against the law and can lead to big fines.

The government is doing more raids, giving fines, and banning some people from running businesses to stop illegal work.