

UK Talks About Trafficking

The UK discussed trafficking in Geneva, thanking a helper for highlighting issues faced by migrant workers who are often mistreated abroad.

The UK has rules to keep workers safe. There are worries about visas and modern slavery. The UK wants to help workers from other countries.

The UK has a programme called Work in Freedom. It helps stop women and girls from being trafficked in South Asia and the Gulf. This programme has.