

UK Talks About Human Rights in Congo

The UK is worried about bad things in eastern DRC, like killings and child soldiers. They want everyone to follow rules and keep people safe.

The UK asks the DRC to think again about using the death penalty. They also want to find out who is doing these bad things and stop them. The UK.

The UK thanks those helping in the DRC. They want to do more and keep working on this important job.