

Dyslexia: Finding the Good Parts

Mike from Gloucestershire has dyslexia. He now sees it as a gift for creativity and problem-solving. He wants his daughter to see the positives too.

Flossy has dyslexia. She gets extra time in exams. She feels lucky and thinks dyslexia helps her think and solve problems in new ways.

The Gloucestershire Dyslexia Association helps schools find the strengths of dyslexic students to boost their confidence and help them succeed.