

New Chair for Pensions Ombudsman

Deborah Evans is the new Chair of The Pensions Ombudsman, starting 1 July. They help solve pension problems and ensure people get their money.

New rules will make The Pensions Ombudsman stronger to fix problems faster. Deborah Evans will help improve the pensions system.

Deborah Evans works with the Property Ombudsman and Lawyers in Local Government. The Chair earns £24,000 a year for at least 36 days of work.