

Apple and Google talk to police about stopping phone theft. Police want to use a special number to block stolen phones. Apple and Google have worries.

Phone theft is a big problem in London. Police want phone companies to block stolen phones so thieves can't use them.

Apple and Google made new safety features to stop phone theft. Police want more action from phone companies.

Some want Apple and Google to block phones by IMEI. Apple worries stolen phones might be taken apart and sold as parts.

Police and companies must team up to stop phone theft. Apple and Google want to help but need more time and a plan that works for all.