

Glastonbury has secret bands. This year, a band called Patchwork is playing, but no one knows who they are. Fans are guessing.

In 2023, The ChurnUps were Foo Fighters. This year, Patchwork might be Pulp, Haim, Mumford and Sons, Oasis, or Robbie Williams.

Lewis Capaldi, Lana Del Rey, Lady Gaga, and Lorde might perform.

Secretglasto shares tips on secret shows. They have contacts and sometimes ask bands for info. Secret sets are now used for publicity.

Secret shows at Glastonbury are popular. Bands like Radiohead and The Killers have played. These shows get big crowds and excitement.

In 1995, The Stone Roses played a surprise show in a village. Some think Patchwork might be them finally playing the festival.

Fans enjoy the mystery of secret sets at Glastonbury, guessing the bands and being surprised by favourites. It's a special part of the experience.
