

The Open Innovation Team offers placements for PhD students in 2026 to help with government policies on health and education. No policy knowledge needed.

Placements last three months. Students can join anytime. They work with experts, plan events, learn research, create services, and give training.

Students must be doing a PhD in the UK and have funding. The application has a form, test, and interview. Q&A sessions are on 10 and 23 June.
